The 2017 Viñas Viejas de Soria is a blend of different plots of old vines from the village of Atauta and felt floral and expressive. It fermented with some 4% white grapes (Albillo intermixed in the old vines with the Tempranillo) and matured in Francois Frères barrels (half of them new, half second and third use) for 20 months. However, the oak feels quite integrated, and the wine comes through as balanced and supple. There are plenty of fine-grained, slightly dusty tannins and a powerful palate with ripe flavors.
